INSURGENT DRIVE NEARS BARCELONA

HENDAYE, France (At Spanish Frontier), Jan. 16 (AP)—The Spanish Insurgent command today reported capture of Cervera in a swift drive toward Barcelona along the center of Generalissimo Franco's 100-mile front at Catalonia.

VISITORS to White House, Attorney-General Paul Dever and Senator David I. Walsh talk about session with President. It is believed New England flood situation was discussed.

Cervera, an important town of 4000 inhabitants, lies within 50 miles directly west of the government capital on the highway from Lerida. Roads connecting the Lerida-Barcelona highway with government territory to the north and south join at Cervera.

Franco's central Catalonian column laid siege to the town yesterday.

His commanders reported that government defenses there were smashed this morning, clearing the way for a new eastward thrust to the next immediate objective, Igualada, about 29 miles nearer Barcelona.

The Insurgents' lower Catalonian forces, which had captured Tarragona at the coast and pushed into Barcelona province inland at Bellprat, were reported veering north toward Igualada to combine with the central column for a mass drive on Barcelona.

END OF WAR LOOMS

Jubilant Insurgent army columns installed themselves in positions east of Tarragona today for a new attack against a secret defense line barring their way to Barcelona and the possible end of the war.

BARCELONA, Jan. 16 (AP)—Fleets of Insurgent planes smashed at a 15-mile circle around this besieged government capital today, dropping half-ton bombs and strafing the road from Tarragona. Number of dead was unestimated.

'Keep Spain Arms Ban,' N. E. Plea

All New England today joined in a telegraphic wave of protest against lifting of the U. S. embargo on arms to Spain, following fervent exhortation from the Rev. Charles E. Coughlin, radio priest.

In his weekly air address, Fr. Coughlin pleaded with his listeners to wire their protests to Congressmen and the President, declaring Communists were behind the move by the American League for Peace and Democracy to allow shipment of munitions to warring Spain.

From all over Greater Boston last night telephone calls flooded the Western Union office here, relaying messages to congressmen in Washington scoring the proposed embargo release.

Wire officials said at least 14,000 separate telegrams had been sent from Greater Boston alone, and that thousands more were delivered into northern and southern New England offices.

Six extra telephone operators were called into the Boston office to handle the increased business.

Sounding the cry, "Keep neutral; do not lift the embargo," the radio priest charged that the League for Peace and Democracy was seeking to embroil the United States in another World War. He pleaded with his listeners to send telegrams against lifting the embargo to their congressmen and the President.

Father Coughlin assailed the league as "a league for war and dictatorial Communism," and charged that it and other radical organizations were endeavoring to embroil the United States in war.

Roosevelt Asks More Security For Young, Old

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (INS)—Liberalization of the Social Security Act in such fashion as to afford greater benefits to the aged and to dependent children was urged upon Congress today by President Roosevelt in a special message.

In so doing, the President inferentially condemned the Townsend plan, and other "visionary old age pension schemes." He said he could not too strongly urge building on the principles of the existing act, "rather than turning to untried and demonstrably unsound panaceas."

The President transmitted with his approval, a report of the Social Security board which proposed:

1—Beginning payment of monthly old-age insurance benefits at an earlier age than now prescribed, plus liberalization of benefits in the early years.

AID FOR CHILDREN

2—Granting proportionately larger federal grants-in-aid to those states with limited fiscal capacities—this to be accomplished without involving much, if any, additional cost to the government.

3—Payment of monthly benefits to dependent children of workers dying before reaching retirement age, plus a liberalized grant-in-aid program for children.

4—Extension of the benefits of the old age insurance system and the federal-state unemployment compensation system "to all our people as rapidly as administrative experience and public understanding permit."

MAN ON POLITICS

5—Elimination of incompetency and political domination in state personnel by requiring establishment of a merit system for stat personnel as a condition for receipt of federal funds.

"I cannot too strongly urge the wisdom of building upon the principles contained in the present social security act in affording greater protection to our people, rather than turning up untried and demonstrable unsound panaceas," President Roosevelt declared.

"We shall make the most orderly progress if we look upon social security as a development toward a goal rather than a finished product. We shall make the most lasting progress if we recognize that social security can furnish only a base upon which each one of our citizens may build his own individual security through his own individual efforts."

6,000,000 HELPED

Reviewing operations of the act, President Roosevelt declared more than 2,500,000 needy old people, blind persons and dependent children are receiving $500,000,000 a year.

Last year, he added, 3,500,000 unemployed received benefits amounting to $400,000,000.

The old age insurance system now covers 42,500,000 persons, who were likened by the President to the policy holders of a private insurance company.

"We shall make the most orderly progress," he said, "if we look upon social security as a development toward a goal rather than a finished product. We shall make the most lasting progress if we recognize that social security can furnish only a base upon which each one of our citizens may build his individual security through his own individual efforts."

BENEFITS FOR ALL

"One way to help," he added, "is to extend our federal old age insurance system so as to provide regular monthly benefits not only to the aged but also to the dependent children of workers dying before reaching retirement age.

"The other way is to liberalize the federal grants-in-aid to the states o help finance assistance to dependent children."

Regarding the old age and unemployment compensation systems, the President said "equity and sound social policy require that the benefits be extended to all of our people as rapidly as administrative experience and public understanding permit."

President Forms Realty Board

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (AP) — President Roosevelt announced creation by executive order today of a federal real estate board.

In a special message to Congress, Mr. Roosevelt said the board's duties would include recommendations for disposition of surplus real estate owned by the government.

He added it would also make recommendations regarding "the situation in different communities adversely affected by the loss of tax revenue on land purchased or acquired by the federal government."

A special committee named by the President in 1935 has reported that the federal government owns approximately 20 per cent of all the land in the U. S. Holding were tabulated at 394,657,721 acres of land, valued, with improvements, at $4,696,062,000.

Saltonstall Asks UCC Abolition, 1-Man Board

Federal officials have demanded a 25 per cent cut in the cost of running the State Unemployment Compensation Commission, it was revealed today by Governor Saltonstall.

The governor's disclosure came even as a legislative commitee was hearing arguments, by the recent UCC "gift job" probers, for reorganization of the UCC at an added cost of between$ $10,000 and $12,000 annually for salaries.

According to Governor Saltonstall, three federal officials recetly visitged him and demanded the 25 per cent slash in expenses of operating the UCC here.

JOBS SLASH LOOMS

The governor said he asked the federal officials not to push the matter at present, inasmuch as a proposed new setup was under contemplation. The officials agreed to wait.

The reason for federal interest in the UCC is that the administrative cost is borne at Washington. All moneys collected here for jobless insurance is sent to Washington, and the federal government then makes an allotment for the administration.

SEEKS UCC ABOLITION

With the UCC reorganized under a director and five or six deputies, the total of salaries to be more than now paid out to the three UCC commissioners—and with the federal government demanding a flat 25 per cent cut in costs—wholesale dumping of minor UCC employes was seen today at the State House.

Just before Governor Saltonstall made his disclosure, he had sent an assistant secretary, Daniel J. Lynch, before the legislative committee with a charge that the present UCC setup is "costly, inefficient and generally undesirable" as the latest step in his "purge" program:

Through Lynch, the governor expressed his "vital concern" over

Dodd Indicted In Hit-Run Case

HANOVER COURTHOUSE, Va., Jan. 16 (INS)—Dr. William E. Dodd, former United States ambassador to Germany, was indicted by a grand jury of five Virginia farmers today on a charge of running down a five-year-old Negro girl with his automobile and then fleeing from the scene of the accident.

If found guilty, the ex-envoy would be liable to maximum penalties of five years in prison or a $5000 fine, or both. His offense, however, under Virginia law, might be determined to be only a misdemeanor. If he is convicted on the lesser charge he would be fined only a few dollars.

Burglar Slays Girl With Axe, Wounds Mother

BULLETIN

RACINE, Wis., Jan. 16 (AP)—Sheriff Miles Hulett annouunced today that a young man giving his name as Ernest John Mahr of Milwaukee had confessed slaying 16-year-old Ruth Scott at Milwaukee early this morning during an attempted burglary.

MILWAUKEE, Jan. 16 (AP)—Ruth Scott, 16-year-old high school student, was killed with an axe before dawn today by an intruder who broke into her home and slew her after tying her arms together and partially stripping her of clothing.

The girl's body, arms bound above her head, was found in a bedroom after her widowed mother, Mrs. James Scott, 57, fought off an attempted attack by the man and aroused tenants living in the upstairs section of their home.

Mrs. Scott received a severe gash on the head as she battled with the man in the dark after he invaded her bedroom.

Mrs. Scott woke up, saw the shadowy figure of a man in her bedroom, an axe in one of his hands and a butcher knife in the other, she told authorities.

He struck Mrs. Scott on the head as she struggled with him and then slashed her right hand.

The woman broke away, ran into the kitchen. She turned on the light and saw the body of her daughter on a bloodstained bed in the adjoining room.

Ruth had been struck on the head several times with the axe.

Detective Eugene O'Gorman said the girl had not been attacked, although her clothes had been torn.

The axe wielder, who left his weapon behind, escaped when Mrs. Scott fled upstairs to call for help.

Court Maps Home Life of Orphan Boy

Robert Clark, eight-year-old Walpole boy orphaned by the drowning of his parents last May and since then focal point of a court custody fight, had his home life mapped out for him today.

Judge Joseph R. McCoole of Dedham court handed down a decision in the case giving care of Robert alternately to his maternal aunt, Mrs. Helen Felici of Walpole, and his parental grandmother, Mrs Lelia Kenick of Foxboro

Robert Clark Mrs. Felici

"It appears to the court that the best interests of this child will be served if he remains in the custody of one person during the school term, and that he enjoy a chance of environment and a vacation during the summer months," Judge McCoole said.

"Therefore I decree that his custody be given to his aunt from September 1 to June 30 of each year, and to his grandmother from July 1 to August 31 of each year, and that both parties shall allow the child to visit the other hile they have the child.

"The court desires that the welfare of the child may establish a more friendly and mutual relationship between the families involved."

When the boy's father and mother drowned with another married couple in the capsizing of a rowboat off Wareham, Robert fell heir to several thousand dollars of insurance money, a five-room bungalow and some bank funds.

Girl, 11, Leads 'Masher' Hunt

Aided by the detective sense of an 11-year-old Roxbury girl, police today were seeking a man with a police record for annoying children.

The girl is Mary Jordan of Westminster street. Rejecting enticements of the man to enter his automobile, Mary marched right up to police and reported what had happened.

When shown pictures in the rogues' gallery, she picked out one as that of the man who had accosted her in Montgomery street, South End.

When the man is picked up, he will be confronted by the girl.

Doug, Jr., Jilted; Zorina a Bride

NEW YORK, Jan. 16—On the screen the glamorous Doug Fairbanks, Jr., always gets his woman, but in real life he was just another jilted man today.

As recently as only a week ago he was squiring Vera Zorina, the tempting dancing star of a Broadway show hits night spot. And all the time she was married to her ballet director, George Balanchine.

The news—not much of a surprise to her intimates—created a mild sensation in Broadway theatrical circles, where it was expected she might wed Fairbanks.

She and the film actor—former husband of Joan Crawford—had been much in each other's company recently. It was an open secret in the glitter belt he had presented her with a ring.

DOUGLAS FAIRBANKS, JR.

Zorina said she had accepted the ring from Fairbanks only as a token of their friendship and returned it when her friends interpreted it as an engagement.

Zorina was married the day before Christmas, and to keep it secret all she did was supplant her usual exotic costume with a simple $7.98 model such as any stenographer might wear and apply for the license at Staten Island under her correct name of Brigita Hartwig.

This was enough to fool even Thomas J. Barry, the deputy city clerk. The only outsider except the witnesses who knew about it was Walter Winchell, and he was pledged to an excruciating secrecy which he did not violate.

Announcement of the nuptials was delayed while the junior Fairbanks was courting the lovely star because Balanchine was suddenly called to Florida by business. He returned and the news was broken.

3-YEAR SLEEP UNBROKEN

ERIE, Pa., Jan. 16—She slept on today, did Maxine Yarrington, her eyes staring expressionlessly into space—while a little birthday cake with five half-burnt candles staled, neglected, in a corner of her hospital room.

Maxine was beginning her sixth year, three and a half of which she has spent in the same hospital bed, while her grieving parents have waited hopefully.

Daily the parents—the father is a WPA worker in Fairview, 12 miles west of here—have visited the hospital, bent over Maxine's stricken form, praying for some recognition in those lusterless eyes.

But not since that day in September, 1935, when Maxine was felled by the dread encephalitis lethargica (sleeping sickness), has she done more than toss fitfully in her deep sleep, bruising her face against the bed despite padding to prevent injury.

Yesterday her father and mother brought the birthday cake, held it front of her eyes. Maxine's eyes remained blank.

Sorrowfully the father and mother snuffed out the candles.

N. E. SOLONS CALLED IN FLOOD AID PARLEY

Mrs. Rogers Acts To Speed Funds

Aiming at peace in the flood control war between Vermont and federal authorities, Representative Edith Nourse Rogers (R.), of Lowell, in Washington today called a meeting of all New England Senators and Representatives.

"This matter has got to be worked out," she said in issuing her invitation.

"The best way for us to do it is to stand together. We will discuss possible legislation to effect an amicable settlement."

Meanwhile, Senator Austin (R.), Vermont, prepared a bill for immediate introduction in the Senate which would require the federal government to obtain the consent of a state before condemning its lands for flood control purposes.

Senator David I. Walsh, it was said by one of the New England legislators, probably would offer the amendment to the Flood Control Act later this week, on the promise that a Democrat presenting the measure would result in greater support for it before the Senate.

$17,610,000 URGED

Representative Rogers' call was issued to Republican and Democratic lawmakers alike and came shortly after the chief of army engineers, despite the controversy, had recommended allocation of $17,610,000 for flood control in New England.

Also recommended was an appropriation of $2,975,000 for river and harbor improvements in Massachusetts for the fiscal year beginning next June 30, with $1,326,000 to be for improvements in Boston harbor and $446,000 for work on the Cape Cod canal.

FAVORS MORE MONEY

The $17,610,000 allocation for New England flood control work would be part of a nation-wide flood control fund of $351,255,700 and would be divided almost equally between the Merrimack and Connecticut rivers.

This flood control expenditure, recommended by Major General Julian L. Schley, chief of army engineers, in his annual report, far exceeds President Roosevelt's suggestion for a $221,000,000 appropriation.

Expenditures for flood control recommended in the report include $9,000,000 for Merrimack river reservoirs; $4,410,000 for Connecticut river reservoirs in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont, and $4,200,000 for basins at Springfield, West Springfield, Chicopee, Holyoke, Hartford and East Hartford.

Vt. Upholds Principle in Flood Row

The quarrel between Vermont and federal authorities in connection with flood control involves a conflict of authority over the principle of states' rights.

Vermont is willing the federal Government construct flood control dams in that state, but contends the land necessary should first be acquired by the state and then turned over to the government.

Under federal flood control legislation, the federal Government, however, is given authority to seize land in a state wherever it deems the land to be necessary.

JAMES P. ROSE, past commander of the State department, American Legion, and Miss Ellen E. Cummings, official of the Auxiliary, shown at the State House where veterans blasted politicians, demanding end of non-competitive examinations and asking for retention of preference act.

Preference Law Foes Warned By Veterans

With a solidarity unprecedented among veterans, members of the American Legion in Massachusetts today stood solidly behind veterans' preference in Civil Service laws—promising reprisals against those who would circumvent or change them.

Belying reports that members of the organization were divided on a proposal to change existing provisions for veterans, 732 of the 761 credited delegates in the Massachusetts Legion overflowed Gardiner audutorium at the State House to vote unanimously to uphold the present laws.

REBUKES POLITICIANS

Delegates stingingly rebuked "certain politicians," who were accused of cheating the veterans out of their legal rights. It was charged that friends of politicians had been appointed to office with the claim that no "qualified" veteran was available for the post.

Martin S. Kilgallon of Roslindale charged that 18 veterans seeking an appointment in the state public works department were passed up in favor of a brother-in-law of Executive Councilor Daniel H. Coakley.

The assembled veterans first passed r esolution that "non-competitive appointments have been abused on many occasions and, should be abolished entirely."

A second resolution declared that provisional appointments, too, have been abused and urged that the section of the law making them possible should no longer be invoked.

Further, the delegates voted in favor of retention of the present preference law for veterans in Civil Service.

PRESENT LAW

Under present Massachusetts law, any veteran who receives an examination mark of 70 per cent automatically goes ahead of all civilians. A disabled vetran who manages to pass a physical examination goes to the top of the list, ahead of everyone.

Milton Clash Told in Court

Alleging that when he went to a Milton school board meeting to substitute for a newspaperman friend, his reception was far from friendly, Walter T. Harrison, of Spafford road, Milton, applied in Quincy court today for an assault warrant against School Superintendent Horace P. Turner, of 19 Gaskins street, Milton.

Harrison alleged that he was struck on the ear and injured so seriously he bled to a dangerous degree. The meeting was held in the Tucker school, Milton.

Judge Kenneth Nash stated he would rule Thursday on whether or not the warrant shall be issued.

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (INS)—The Supreme Court today failed to hand down a decision on validity of the Tennessee Valley Authority's electric power program. The court recessed today until January 30, when it will again meet to hand down decisions.

Cardinal Joins Fund Campaign

His Eminence William Cardinal O'Connell today enrolled in the National Church Council for the "Fight Infantile Paralysis" campaign and celebration of the President's birthday, Jan. 30.

Announcement of the Cardinal's endorsement of the campaign was made by John J. Murphy, chairman of the Massachusetts Infantile Paralysis committee.

Distinguished churchmen, representing all faiths, have enrolled in the council, according to the committee.

"Give a Dime and Wear a Button," will be one of this year's local campaign fund slogans.

'Noble Experiment' Began 19 Years Ago

America's "noble experiment" went into effect 19 years ago today, and the mournful chant of "No more whiskey, no more gin, no more stuff to drown your troubles in."

For 14 years it lasted until prohibition was wiped out with the repeal five years ago. During the reign of the "drys" only Rhode Island and Connecticut stuck it out and refused to ratify the 18th Amendment.

New Taxi 'Slush Santa' Traced

New rumors came today as the Finance Commission prepared to resume, at 2 p. m., tomorrow, its probe of alleged slush funds and free passes to public officers issued by at least one taxicab company.

Investigators for the Finance Commission, it was learned, are trying to run to earth reports that private taxicab companies raised a slush fund to provide "Christmas presents" for certain city councilors.

On Wednesday, the public safety committee of the city council resumes its hearings on the advisability of accepting or rejecting the referendum vote of the city, which demanded that taxi stands be made public.

PASSES TO SOLONS

Slush fund charges were first made at a hearing before this committee, and it was before the committee last week that Frank Sawyer, president of the Checker Taxi Company, admitted his concern had given free ride passes to Beacon Hill legislators.

Tomorrow's hearing before the Finance Commission will open in Faneuil Hall with five witnesses summoned.

They are Frank Sawyer, William Sawyer, treasurer of the Checker company; Alwin Hodson, president-treasurer of the Town Taxi Company; Ferdinand Kirchgrassner, president of the Central Cab Company, and Arthur Grimes of Brookline, former president of the Town Taxi Company.

DEMANDS PASS RETURN

The Finance Commission has scheduled an executive meeting for noon tomorrow at its School street headquarters to map out procedure for the afternoon hearing.

Meanwhile, Representative Eric A. Nelson of West Roxbury, president of the Real Estate Owners' and Tenants' League of Boston, has issued a public demand that members of the Legislature and other public officials return their free taxi ride passes.

$23,000 Bonds For Trio Held In Dope Probe

With four men and a woman held on narcotic charges, Boston and Chelsea police announced today they had uncovered the chief supply of narcotics users in the Boston theatrical and Park square districts. A total of 8000 grains of heroin was seized.

The roundup began after police arrested Martin Doyle, 46, of South Boston, on a charge of intent to sell narcotics. Police said they seized about 4000 grains, valued at $400.

Later, Chelsea police joined the Boston officers in a raid on a Fifth street, Chelsea, tenement, where Thomas M. Paige, 40, and Mrs. May Russo, 39, were arrested. Police said they found 4600 more grains of heroin and a number of hypodermic needles.

In East Boston court today, Doyle was found guilty of possessing narcotics with intent to sell. He was held in $10,000 for the grand jury.

At the same time, in Chelsea court, Paige was arraigned on the same charges and was held in $5000, double sureties, with no plea made, for a hearing next Thursday.

Mrs. Russo, charged with being present where narcotics were found, also made no plea, and was held in $3000 for a hearing Thursday.

Two other men were picked up for questioning in connection with narcotics when found in an automobile on North street.

Dwyer Pardon Plans News to Mother, 'Babs'

SOUTH PARIS, Me., Jan. 16 — Any move to obtain a pardon or commutation of sentence for Paul H. Dwyer, principal witness against Deputy Sheriff Francis H. Carroll, convicted of a double murder, has been begun without the help of his mother or Barbara Carroll, once his sweetheart, both said today.

Dwyer, nub of a legal problem—he is serving a life sentence for the murder of Dr. James G. Littlefield, slain with his wife, the same crime for which Carroll was later convicted—was referred to in a statement by Special Assistant Attorney General Ralph E. Ingalls, Carroll's prosecutor. Ingalls was quoted as saying he would oppose any move for clemency for the youth.

Although the statement would indicate some such move was under way, Mrs. Jessie Sears Dwyer, his mother, a nurse at a local sanitarium, denied she had made application for clemency.

Barbara, for love of whom the youth stated he aided her father in disposing of the bodies of the slain couple, knew nothing of the matter. She was loath to discuss any other phase.

Snow on Way; Zero in N. E.

Sub-zero temperatures hit New England today when, for no accountable reason, the thermometer registered 4 below zero in Hartford, Ct. Boston, however, had no temperatures lower than 22 degrees.

Coldest for the date here was 5 below in 1920, while warmest was 57 in 1890.

Light snow was predicted for tonight in Boston with clear weather for Tuesday forenoon.

Students Favor Course in Wedlock

URBANA, Ill., Jan. 16 (INS)—A course in marriage relations may go into the curriculum of the University of Illinois if the wishes of the students are heeded. A survey conducted by the student senate revealed today that 664 juniors and seniors were in favor of such a study. Only four were against it.

Hold Lynn Man Named by Victim

A warrant charging Kimo Macris, 30, of West Green street, Lynn, with assault with intent to murder was issued today in Lynn district court, while police clamped down the lid on rackets in that city.

Issuance of the warrant followed investigation by Chief Inspector William H. Kane of Lynn police into the shooting of Frank L. Anderson, 28, of Suffolk avenue, Swampscott, wounded four times in a "dice game argument."

At Lynn Hospital, Anderson was reported in serious condition and his name was on the danger list. Doctors removed one bullet from his back and three from his right arm.

SAYS HE PAID $200

According to the police version of the shooting the affair occurred in Anderson's automobile in West Green street.

The victim, according to police, said that his assailant first demanded $200, on a story that he had been robbed of $500 in the holdup of a dice game in Cambridge Saturday night. Anderson said despite the fact he handed over $200 his companion pulled a gun and fired four shots.

Police took into custody Charles Garbo of Alley street, Lynn. In court he was held on charges of carrying a revolver without a permit. His case was continued until January 23.

MAYOR DEFENDS CITY

As police investigated, Mayor J. Fred Manning stoutly defended the Shoe City against current reports that organized crime was rampant in Lynn. He declared:

"I believe this city is free and clean of rackets despite what outsiders say. There may be a few floating dice games now and then, but no more than any other city of comparative size.

"Yesterday's shooting fray was the outcome of gambling games in Cambridge and Malden and they had to come to Lynn to straighten out their troubles. I am sure the police are sufficiently capable of handling this situation without having to call outsiders into it."

5 Bandits Rob Dice Game, Disrobe 31

WAKEFIELD, Jan. 16 (AP)—Police today investigated reports that a $1500 robbery upset a Sunday afternoon dice game in which 31 persons were playing in the cellar of a Wakefield home.

The report indicated the dice were rolling fast when five robbers, three of them masked and carrying guns, strode down the cellar stairs, ordered all the players to pile their money into a bundle, and then forced them to disrobe completely.

Details of the story that reached police included a report that one man saved a thousand-dollar bill by stuffing it into his sock and that a friend attempting to slip a 50-cent piece into his shoe, was caught but was allowed to keep it to take his girl to the movies.

Lodge Report Hits Deal 'Flop' On Jobs, Relief

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16—Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr., in expressing minority views of the Senate committee on unemployment and relief today, deplored the administration's failure to accomplish constructive action in the fields of unemployment and relief.

The junior Senator from Massachusetts urged a generous economic security program for aged people based on "as liberal a scale that sound financing would permit."

He condemned the committee's majority report that federal grants be increased proportionately in states where the average per capita income is less than the average per capita income of the nation as a whole, pointing out that this plan would cause substantial cuts in New England grants.

He also took issue with the committee on its failure to recommend "definite legislation to eliminate favoritism in the allocation of relief jobs to individuals, adding:

"It is a pity the committee did not even study this problem?"

Four suggestions were offered by Senator Lodge which included giving business stable conditions, ending of executive discretion in tariff matters, economic security program for aged persons and elimination of executive discretion in allocating relief funds to states.

Sprague Defense Presents Alibi

EXETER, N. H., Jan. 16 (AP)—Defense witnesses testified today that Herbert W. Sprague, 53, itinerant barber, was in Portland, Me., the day the body of Barbara Driscoll, 8, was found stuffed under a loading platform in Portsmouth, N. H.

Sprague is on trial charged with beating the girl to death with a stone.

dward J. O'Neil of the Saco, Me., police department, and Willis C. Grace of the Portland postoffice, both said they saw Sprague in Portland.

Arnold Strout of Portland said he paid Sprague 25 cents the morning of the murder to do some work at his filling station.

Chain Postal Card Opposes 3rd Term

Move to End Truck Strike In Lowell

LOWELL, Jan. 16—A move toward settlement of the strike involving 300 truck drivers in this city was started today when representatives of the Drivers' Union and truck owners agreed to meet with the State Board of Arbitration at a conference in City Hall.

State arbitration was used by Mayor Dewey G. Archambault.

Transportation of wholesale foodstuffs, general merchandise and fuel meanwhile was at a minimum as operators of trucks entering the city stopped their machines according to demands of the strikers.

Police reported roving pickets had halted trucks in Chelmsford, Tyngsboro, Billerica and other nearby towns but that no violence had occurred.

College Purges Wagner Opera

CHARLOTTESVILLE, Va., Jan. 16 (AP)—Professor H. R. Pratt said today he had changed words of a wagnerian opera because members of the University of Virginia glee club had refused to sing praise to "German masters" in a concert tomorrow night.

Pratt, director of the glee club, said the singers decanded he revise the line from the "Die Meistersinger which reads "Honor your German masters."

He rewrote the line, Pratt said, to read "Honor your master singers."

Teeth Grown In Test Tubes

By G. B. LAL
International News Service Science Editor
(Copyright, 1939)

NEW YORK, Jan 16—Teeth have been grown in test tubes, in search for the secrets of perfect teeth, by Dr. S. Glasstone, a woman scientist, it was learned today from Cambridge University, England.

The dramatic experiments, carried out at the famous Strangeways Research Laboratories, are expected to open new ways to understand the machinery of development of the teeth under various conditions.

The method, which later on might be applied to direct experiments on embryonic human teeth, is a modification of tissue culture which has enabled scientists like Dr. Alexis Carrel to keep chick embryo alive outside the body for over 20 years.

Dr. Glasstone used "tooth germs," the seeds of teeth present in the embryo of rats and rabbits.

A special nutritive soup, mixture of chicken bloo serum, sugar, salt and so on, wa prepared in which teeth cultures were made. Altogether 61 molars were thus cultivated outside the body; first lower molars of the rats, later molars of the rabbits.

As the dental seeds grew into maturer teeth, cusps were formed exactly as happens in the living body.

Chaperau Enters Pleas of Guilty

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Albert N. Chaperau, whose claim to diplomatic immunity on the ground he was a Nicaraguan commercial attache was disallowed by the federal court, pleaded guilty to three smuggling indictments today.

Two of the indictments also name George Burns of the radio comedy team of Burns and Allen. The other names only Chaperau and charges smuggling of jewelry valued at about $100,000.

Chaperau previously pleaded guilty to an indictment which named Jack Benny, radio comic. Benny entered an innocent plea.

Dever to Probe Strange Shooting Of Parolee

The mystery of who shot Angelo Briano, 28, of Pearl street, Everett, an ex-convict, was put up to the Attorney-General's office today by the state parole board.

Briano under parole from a five-year sentence at the Norfolk prison colony for robbery, went to the parole board last Friday and told them he had been shot.

He was there, he said, at the insistence of his wife, who demanded that he inform them. The shooting, he said, was of purely an accidental nature.

He is alleged to have admitted under questioning that the shooting took place last October 16 and that he had been treated several times by a physician. It is said no report was made by the doctor to police. Briano insisted that the revolver which shot him was accidentally discharged while in the hands of a friend.

He has been employed since his parole at the Wonderland dog track at Revere.

In turning the matter over to Assistant Attorney-General John S. Derham, Chairman Ralph W. Robart issued a statement, saying:

"We are interested in whether Briano violated his parole. We are certain he did not. However, we feel the information we now have should be given to the attorney-general."

Briano was convicted in October, 1929, for the robbery of Lawrence A. Childs, a coast guardsman. He was paroled after serving a minimum term.

Hides Axe Victim In Home 2 Days

CHICAGO, Jan. 16 (INS)—Joseph Borys, 62, today confessed he had slain a woman with a hatchet Saturday, and had kept the body in his apartment over the week-end.

His story was doubted when he walked into a police station today, but investigation disclosed the body lying not 10 feet from where Borys and his wife had slept Saturday and Sunday nights.

While the body lay on the bed of a back room, the Boryses went about their daily routine and delayed notifying police "so we could have a quiet Sunday," Borys declared.

The dead woman was Mrs. Francis Piotrowski, whom Borys accused of swindling him out of an apartment building in which he had invested his life's savings, and of attempting to evict him from the building.

3 in Nova Scotia Die in Accidents

HALIFAX, N. S., Jan. 16 (INS)—Two women and a young man met tragic deaths in Nova Scotia during the week-end.

Lola Thorlinine, 40, was scalded to death in her home at Jordan bay; Kenneth Sullivan, 18, broke through the ice of Minesville river, while skating, and drowned; Mrs. James Roach, 24, Halifax, lost her life when her clothing ignited from fire in the kitchen stove.

Young Cambridge Dreads Curfew

There was no mistake today about the kids thinking it was better the way it was in the old poem, but curfew WILL ring tonight in Cambridge.

At 9:30 Cambridge fire whistles will shrill, and immediately thereafter beat policemen will begin to peel an eye for youngsters under 14 years and unescorted who are still on the streets.

The officers are under instructions by Mayor John W. Lyons and Police Chief Timothy F. Leahy to rustle the kids into their homes with dark frowns and official words.

It was pretty disgusting to those youngsters in early high school and just under 14 when they heard the order relayed into their schoolrooms today.

Every school teacher in the city informed his or her charges about the curfew and advised the boys and girls' co-operation.

It has been a long time since curfew has rung in Cambridge, but the ordinance making it city law is still on the books, and all that it takes to revive it is exercise of the police power.

Restoration of the curfew was asked by the Cambridge Youth Commission, which has been investigating the reasons behind juvenile delinquency and crime.

Thomas J. Murphy, chairman of the commission, justifying the suggestion, said:

"Our investigations showed that the boys and girls with whom police are having trouble are allowed to run the streets when they should be in bed.

"I suspect that the first few nights, all the police will do is 'shoo' unaccompanied youngsters off the streets.

"After that, I believe, they have the power to take them home, or at least make recommendations to their fathers and mothers."

Heroine Praised For Fire Rescue

Mrs. Ann Salini, 32, who carried her own two children to safety and aroused 11 other persons during a fire in her apartment house, was the heroine of her section of Dorchester today, and a little abashed by her sudden fame.

The house is at Ellington and Erie streets, Dorchester, and the damage was $4000. Firemen believed the fire originated in a fruit store occupied by Robert Shravsky.

Mrs. Salini bundled her children, aged seven and 10, into blankets, carrying them to the street. Then she rushed back into the blazing building, awakening other tenants.

Two Beacon Hill Homes Robbed

The police intensified their activities on Beacon Hill today, following two burglaries within an hour of each other. At the home of James L. Ware in Primus court burglars got jewelry worth $200.

In the home of Mrs. Sider of Allen street they climbed a fire escape, smashed a window, stole a radio.

PEACEMAKER'S FATE

The proverbial fate of the peacemaker overtook Joseph Zokowski of Harris street, Salem, when he tried to separate two women brawling in Lynn. Police say he was hit with a flatiron. Anyway, doctors took two stitches in his head.

Prank Costs Her Serious Injury

Miss Alice Bradley, 30, of Commonwealth avenue, Back Bay, today was in critical condition at St. Elizabeth's Hospital after what police described as "a childish prank."

The young woman suffered a fractured left hip, cut eye, fractured nose, a dislocated wrist and a cut scalp when she slipped from a bannister and fell 20 feet to a tile landing.

Police said the woman had attempted to slide down the bannister on a dare from a companion, while the pair were visiting at a Beacon street, Back Bay, apartment.

Quiz Knox 'Bribe' Probe Witness

A man reported to know of the alleged intimidation of a star witness in a major murder mystery appeared at the office of the Suffolk County prosecutor today.

After a prolonged delay the man finally appeared, prepared to tell what he knew of attempts to interfere in the possible prosecution of ex-State Trooper George T. Knox, under indictment for the slaying of Mrs Helen Dwinah Dale, an attractive divorcee found shot to death in her apartment a year ago last May.

The witness, a Cambridge attorney who reported to Dave Nelson, state police superintendent, that he had been approached with a offer of $[illegible] to [illegible] a juror, [illegible] was [illegible]

The witness Mrs Ella Belcher of Newton, Dist Atty Foster and Assistant District Attorney Edward Sullivan, who is in charge of the case, were closeted in conference for more than an hour.

Mrs Belcher occupied an apartment under that of the former state trooper a year ago last May when Mrs Dale was found shot to death in her suite. Before the pretty divorcee died she exonerated the ex-trooper, and he was released when he claimed to have been asleep when she was shot. The case was listed as suicide.

Subsequently, however, Judge Charles L. Cox ordered an inquest and Knox was indicted. He was held [illegible] accused me when after six months he was cleared. The law provides that if a person is not brought to trial in that time he must be freed.

The statement holds however with [illegible]

Mrs Belcher reported that she also has been followed repeatedly and subjected to other inconveniences and alleged threats.

administration of the CC, particularly in the light of the criticism by federal officials.

At the same time the governor opened his promised inquiry into all state departments in a conference with Budget Commissioner Carl Raymond.

"I do not anticipate taking control of any department unless something is found to be wrong," the governor explained.

"But the public works department is one of the bigger departments of the state and, naturally, would be among the early ones to be surveyed. It is not in any sense a target."

REARDON CASE TOMORROW

He said his conference with Commissioner Raymond was the first step toward the general survey in preparation of budget matters, not in the nature of an anti-patronage purge.

Concerning his move for removal of Commissioner James G. Reardon as head of the state department of education, the governor said he was ready to present his charges at the ouster hearing set for tomorrow.

Secretary Lynch said the legislative committee on state affairs feels that he was operating for the governor in investigating that the present state affairs are in good condition.

He read from Governor Saltonstall's inaugural address in which the governor declared that efficiency be paid to the [illegible] of the commonwealth, and [illegible] the UCC and its work.

The [illegible] committee [illegible] Saltonstall said that the present [illegible] Congressman [illegible] Judge Paul E. Fenton, former Governor Percy G. Allen and former Senator James P. Monahan be drawn [illegible] from [illegible] by a [illegible] committee.

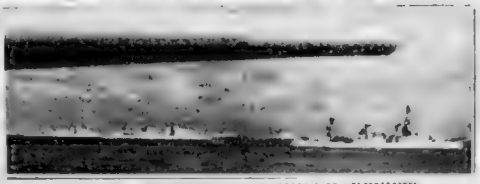
Sink U. S. Fleet, Jap Warning



U. S. FLEET SHOWS BIG GUNS IN REVIEW

TOKYO, Jan 16 (AP)—The newspaper Kokumin declared editorially today that "the Japanese people are determined to smash the American fleet" if the United States intends "to get a political foothold in China" by fortifying the Guam and Wake Islands.

The article, which caused a sensation in Tokyo, demanded to know "the real intentions of the American people in the western Pacific, not those of the President or the State Department."

Washington reports last week said among proposals for new naval bases the long demilitarized island of Guam, 1500 miles from Japan and said an air and submarine base would outflank any Japanese advance to the south or west but would call for a basic decision on national policy in view of the resentment likely to be aroused in Tokyo.

Plans have been drawn for improving the lagoon at Wake Island for surface craft of tonnage under cruisers.

The newspaper which has considerable circulation in military circles said that if the United States wants only to increase trade with China, then Japan would assist her, if America seeks to interfere with Japan's China policy, even resorting to arms, then Japan must be ready to smash the American fleet.

The fortification of Guam and Wake is justified, it continued, only if the American people objects to Japan's policies in China and intends to interfere with them."

committee requesting that in reaching the conclusion it "avoid hasty decision and not permit the indulgence of any unilateral inferences involving personalities."

The commission also planned the committee "investigation and assistance in [illegible] about what is best for the employe, the employer and the public."

Lynch was followed by State Senator Alvan L. Goodwin, chairman of the special committee who explained the committee's bill in a one man race as most efficient. Such a man, he stated, would be appointed by the governor for a five year term and would have [illegible] duties.

He also stated that the committee's [illegible] for six advisory commissioners to be paid on a per [illegible] basis of $20 per day to receive [illegible] than $2,000 in any given year. The present set-up provides for nine unpaid councilors.

CALLED IMPORTANT

Declaring that under Governors Alvan T. Coolidge and Cox, duties of state department head [illegible] $6,000 and that Curley and Hurley passed the salaries of [illegible] to $8,000, Representative Harold D. Jacobs, member of the committee said to Senator Goodwin:

"And you propose to jack it up to $10,000?"

"We want to make it a responsible position and to pay a salary commensurate with the highest type of executive," responded Goodwin. "There is no magic in the figures; the salary of the director might be $9000 or $8500. It is our feeling that this is one of the biggest jobs in the commonwealth."

N. E. Backs Arms Embargo on Spain

[illegible] of the league to endorse Congressman Lift the arms embargo to [illegible]

[illegible] of the Spanish government forces who, he said, are sworn to destroy the last vestige of Christianity in Spain, Father Coughlin urged his listeners to send messages to members of Congress.

"I have arranged with the telegraph companies to stand by these next few hours to receive your telegrams," the priest said.

"Send a night letter to your congressman," he continued, "and have your friends do likewise. Let the United States know that we refuse to be regimented into another World War through the back door of the Spanish embargo.

"If you are assured that your congressman is on the rightist side, then send your telegram to the President In your own words say 'Keep neutral; do not lift the embargo.'"

One major telegraph office was forced to hold [illegible] and [illegible] in order to keep the wires [illegible] the second major telegraph company's wires jammed four hours the press night staff was waiting to [illegible] the messages in Washington.

PRIEST'S ADDRESS

In his address Father Coughlin said:

"These past few days there convened at Washington many organizations espousing the proposition of lifting the embargo to permit the United States to send arms, money, food and munitions to help loyalist Communist Spain.

"The members of these organizations are not all leftists. The majority of them are good men, but indifferentists whom the leftists have attracted to their points of view.

"Is there a man or woman in the United States who is against peace or democracy? The only ones whom I know are the dyed-in-the-red Communists who stand for world revolution, internationalism, collectivism, centralized power, bureaucracy, atheism and dictatorship.

"These good members of the league do not know that the American League for Peace and Democracy is a misnomer. They do not know that it were better called a 'League for War and Dictatorial Communism.'

SHOWS RED HAND

"When was the American public fully informed that every Christian church in loyalist Spain was closed and desecrated; that 12,306 priests and religious people were murdered because they were Christians; that 300,000 noncombatants, women and children and men, were massacred by those Communists because they worshipped Christ.

"This organization, the American League for Peace and Democracy shows its Red hand when it piously opposes the advances of Fascism but utters not one word of condemnation against Communism, the hater, the destroyer, the murderer of Christians.

"Certainly we American rightists do not uphold Fascism. But most certainly we do not fear to oppose atheistic Communism.

"All last week the hotels at Washington were crowded with delegates from various radical organizations meeting in session with the League Against War and Fascism to pressure our government to lift the embargo against Spain.

"Will Congress and the President lift the embargo? I am of the opinion, at the moment, that the American League for Peace and Democracy will persuade Congress that it is the desire of the American people to do so."

REV. FRANCIS E. LOW

Fr. Low Warns Of Red Menace

While President Roosevelt fears an invasion of the United States by Nazi Germany, the real menace to this country lies in the inside subversion of the nation by Communists.

[illegible] was the assertion of Father Francis E. Low, S. J., of Boston College in a talk before [illegible] in Longfellow Hall, Cambridge.

Though not mentioning the name of Father Low also stated Harvard College [illegible] Hicks a known Communist [illegible]

If Theodore Roosevelt were in the White House, instead of his namesake, I would not be forced to address you on the danger of Communism," Fr Low stated to his audience.

"I don't want you to misunderstand me. I don't think President Roosevelt is a Communist. He is sincere in his intentions, but he has been misled.

"The President is virtually panic-stricken at the thought of a Nazi invasion. But there is no danger of the Nazis getting control here. There are not enough of them in this country."

Father Low [illegible] Miss Perkins [illegible] of Labor [illegible]

"She could see no wrong in sit down strikes. Evidently she had never studied ethics.

"There are too many Communists in the CIO," said Fr. Low. "Communists have had every thing to do with strikes in this country. And watch for a multitude of strikes between now and the next election."

BOSTON after DARK

By GEORGE HOLLAND

MONDAY MUSINGS: If Governor Leverett Saltonstall goes along with his rumored re-organization of state departments, an old hand at just this sort of re-organizing is former Senator Tom White, the Newton sage . . . "Lev" would have to borrow the Newton man from Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, Jr. . . . Although Senator Lodge willingly enrolled his Mr. White in the Saltonstall election cause, it is doubtful whether Mr. White would be available for this new duty . . .

GEORGE HOLLAND

Senator Lodge is highly tolerant of Democrats . . . Anyway . . .

Back in 1919 (and wasn't that the year of the police strike?), Governor Calvin Coolidge decided to concentrate 200-odd bureaus and departments into nineteen major departments . . . Tom White got the assignment to effect the mergers and decapitations . . . Many heads of petty bureaus refused to give up their titles and commands . . . Mr. White so reported to the Governor . . . Cal's answer was brief.

"Tell these gentlemen, Tom, that the Governor is receiving resignations every morning," he said.

N. E. [illegible] Commissioner James E. Agnew, state director of the division of fisheries and game, whose term has been extended by the Legislature, according to reports, will NOT be removed from his $5000 a year state job!

Boston's great loss in the calling to New York of John A. Malloy, one of the country's ablest and best-loved editors, will be compensated partly by the thought that the modest young executive will have been given a fitting sendoff by his friends in this city . . . Flanked by members of his own editorial staff and workers from all departments of the Hearst newspapers, leaders of commerce, politics, and the amusement world will gather tomorrow night at the Copley-Plaza to add another chapter to the "Success Story" of Jack Malloy.

When he returned, he went at once to his office and the boss found him there writing a letter.

"Where have you been, and what are you doing?" the boss demanded.

The salesman waved him away.

"Don't bother me," was the reply . . . "I'm writing a letter to Hitler . . . If he wants more territory, he can have Chicago, Pittsburgh and Boston."

Met Opera Here March 16 to 23

The Metropolitan Opera will be in Boston March 16 to 23, the Boston Opera Association announced today—this year's repertoire to include two performances of "Tristan und Isolde" and four additional Wagnerian operas.

Verdi's "Falstaff," one of the most important revivals of the Metropolitan season, largely because of Lawrence Tibbett's presence in the title role, is scheduled for opening night.

The date of the public ticket sale will be announced later.

Grace Moore will make her first operatic appearance here in the customary matinee performance Monday (6) of Puccini's "La Boheme" and "Louise" on Tuesday evening, March 21.

Lily Pons is slated for but one performance and that as Gilda in the closing night's production of "Rigoletto" with Lawrence Tibbett and Jan Kiepura.

There will be the inevitable performance of "Aida," cast with Elizabeth Rethberg and Jane Cassinelli in the leading feminine roles. Marinelli Pinza and Nelson Eddy to provide support. Jerome Cowan Thomas to direct the [illegible] (Mr. Thomas will also direct a "Boris" on Friday evening, March 24).

The Wagnerian repertoire will include the cycle of [illegible] as it has elsewhere [illegible]

Franco Victory Duce's Peace Price to France

ROME Jan 16 (AP) Italy today made a [illegible] to the Spanish civil war the price for action by her powerful [illegible] new colonial influence in the Mediterranean

This became apparent [illegible] by the foreign office of an informant [illegible] conferring with Premier Mussolini and Foreign Minister Count Galeazzo Ciano in their conversations last week

Some diplomats [illegible] thought the silken [illegible] was a consequence of encouraging [illegible] by Italy's [illegible] offensive They [illegible] that the Spanish [illegible] could be one great [illegible] fight

Mussolini told the British premier, said the [illegible] office [illegible] quoting "responsible Roman circles," that specifically the Italian quarrel with France could not be settled until after the Spanish war because "the Spanish question has divided and still divides profoundly the two countries"

Italy is prepared furthermore to send even more Italian fighters to the Spanish insurgent army if Franco or other democracies suddenly embark upon a program of large scale aid to the Barcelona government

Warns Tunisia May Be Lost to France

GENEVA, Jan. 16 (AP) The fiery Spanish government foreign minister, Julio Alvarez del Vayo, seized upon the French-Italian quarrel over Africa today to warn France that an Insurgent victory in Spain might cost her Tunisia

The white haired Spaniard came to Geneva for the League of Nations council session and arrived just as Viscount Halifax and Georges Bonnet, the British and French foreign ministers, finished a long conference

Their spokesmen were saying that both were pleased with Mussolini's assurances that he had no territorial designs on Spain

Del Vayo, however, warned the French delegation Mussolini [illegible] was [illegible] his troops in Spain [illegible] the pretense of keeping military order in conquered areas Then he predicted, Mussolini could wage a potent diplomatic military club over France.

DON'T GIVE BALDNESS A HEAD START

A YOUNG man with a good head of healthy hair sheds and re-grows an average of 21 hairs each day. Baldness needn't worry him as long as this normal shedding and re-growing process continues unhampered.

Baldness comes when some local infection, such as dandruff, makes it impossible for the scalp to re-grow enough hair to replace that which falls out. When this happens, your scalp logically becomes a problem for a Thomas expert. He solves the problem by (1) determining the exact cause of your hair-loss and then by (2) adapting the reliable Thomas treatment to overcome this cause and to help your scalp structure continue its normal function of growing hair

Fourteen local scalp conditions, responsible for 90% of all baldness, come within the scope of Thomas treatment. Thomas can end your dandruff, stop abnormal hair-fall, and help you to promote natural hair growth on thin and bald spots. Call today for a free scalp examination and learn more about this sound, proved method of scalp treatment.

Summer Perilous for Baby

By ALLEN ROY DAFOE, M. D.
Personal Physician to the Dionne Quintuplets

When I first began practicie, thirty years ago, I remember how I used to dread the onset of summer with its intense heat.

I always dreaded [illegible] brew this [illegible] the summer [illegible] of the [illegible] I had [illegible] brought into the world a few months previous, would contract a case of [illegible] trouble.

I always found the [illegible] number of [illegible] was the most dangerous. This was true [illegible] cholera infantum. Most of the [illegible] during the first danger season.

DEATHS WERE HIGH

When he was born a year and a half ago he was weaned and placed on a mixed diet consisting mainly of pasteurized cow's milk. However to trouble developed and he took [illegible] to it, except that he [illegible] fussed in the middle [illegible] of the morning.

I used to tell the people in the hospital with the mothers that they had to be careful to keep flies away from the baby and anything that they ate or touched. "LEST WE FORGET!"

The Editor Says: The artist's forceful cartoon shows WHY our World War veterans and their patriotic organizations are champions of SOUND AMERICANISM.

These former soldiers, in the flower of their manhood, fought on foreign soil or in foreign waters for the ideal that the world was "being made safe for democracy."

Now, two decades later, they look "Over There" and behold Fascism, Communism, Nazism and Imperialism united in a mighty bond of hatred for democracy and striving unceasingly to stamp out the last vestiges of its principles.

Consequently and wisely Mr. Eugene I. Van Antwerp, intelligent commander-in-chief of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, gives Congress this program of suggested legislation to ELIMINATE FOREIGN ISMS FROM THE UNITED STATES:

Dissolve secret organizations which advocate force or violence to advance their purposes.

Make it a crime to advocate overthrow of the United States Government by force, or violence.

Deny public relief or government employment to aliens who have not declared their intention to become American citizens.

Require the Labor Department to deport all aliens found guilty of any crime, or who have become public charges, or who advocate force or violence to overthrow the government of the United States.

These are certainly the elemental principles of AMERICAN SAFETY, and the veterans of our foreign wars are to be commended for taking the loopholes in this country's defenses against foreign invasion.

Why should we let down the immigration bars to crackpot [illegible] and IMPORT faithlessness and disloyalty, sedition and treason?

CHILDREN SELL DOPE in the streets of New York's [illegible] they were selling apples and with a good [illegible] Treasury Department officials report.

Here is proof NEARLY our government can and most certainly could [illegible] us from abroad could do more harm or destroy more lives than the INTERNAL FOE [illegible] drugs.

They [illegible] as quickly as do bullets and lethal gases. They [illegible] away minds and literally turns [illegible] into a Frankenstein monster.

Particularly is Boston concerned. We remember that only a short year ago Federal authorities found our port to be a principal [illegible] for the importation of this poison.

Quite properly they [illegible] fore, we wonder how much of it is STILL MOVING, unmolested, through our streets.

DYING ENFIELD closes its 116-year-old postoffice and [illegible] of existence.

This [illegible] in New England culture and tradition, may be called a [illegible] the triumphant March of Progress.

[illegible] Quabbin Reservoir projects and completion of a [illegible] will wipe Enfield off the map.

Yet despite the [illegible] the community's passing must inspire [illegible] their lives there, they courageously seek [illegible] elsewhere, willingly making sacrifices for the [illegible]

That has ever been the AMERICAN way.

The Human Side of the News

Congressional Exhibitionists

By EDWIN C. HILL

Copyright 1939 King Features Synd., Inc.

THE NORMAL working of democratic processes, plus the standardizing effect of national-volume tailoring, is making it a bit harder for the average run-of-the-mill Congressman to make a big name for himself in Washington.

A few decades ago, with a wider latitude in dress, with whiskers to accent any particular dramatization, and with the dependable old home-spun get-up always available, a new statesman could somehow manage to get a spot-light, even if it was with merely the old Daniel Webster costume—Prince Albert coat, loose flop of hair and monitory forefinger.

In this new Congress, just getting under way, everybody is trim-rigged and pretty much alike.

SOLONS OF YESTERYEAR didn't mind a bit of symbolic tub-thumping. One recalls Senator Vardaman of Mississippi and his team of white oxen. In every election campaign he drove those snow oxen across the State to let it be known that he was for white supremacy.

Once their specialty was worked out and copyrighted the voters seemed to expect it and, on the whole, it appears that sharply outlined individuality, even though tinctured with hokum and hooey, has won more elections than straight ability without histrionic trimmings.

One cannot say, of course, that all eccentricities of dress or manner in Congress is mere showmanship. It was indicated, for instance, that Senator Magnus Johnson of Minnesota, who wore overalls in the Senate, really believed that he was thus expounding a lesson in democracy. And the vernal gesture of Senator Thomas of Colorado seemed harmless, if premeditated. He always swept off his winter toupee to greet the spring.

THERE WERE, of course, quite a few rank exhibitionists. When Congressman Manuel Herrick of Oklahoma came to Washington nobody gave him a second look. But quickly he got attention by inaugurating a beauty contest, with his own hand in marriage as the prize for the winner. Later he got some quite unwelcome attention, going to jail for running a still.

Huey Long had a varied line of arresting properties and mannerisms, chief of which were loud pajamas, pot likker, filibusters and studied solecisms of speech, putting it mildly. And in a big way, most of these [illegible] could get a big swag from the papers by putting in a freak bill—that was and is a good old stand by for the shrinking violet who fears he will be overlooked.

LATE SENATOR HUEY P. LONG
He Knew How to Hit Front Page

'Bugs' Baer Says:

IN THE STRUGGLE for democracy we must remember there are various forms of totalitarianism in habit-forming quantities.

YOU'VE MADE up your married mind to go down to the corner cigar store and see what the boys in the back room are doing. The wife slaps her hand together like you were between 'em and says, "Oscar, if you take one step out of the house tonight [illegible] Could anything be more total than that? You stay right where you are.

THERE'S NOTHING quite so [illegible] as the Silence sign in the reference room of the Public Library. This arrogant and monarchial placard makes cowards of us all. Our ancestors charged up Ticonderoga in hobnail shoes, whooping in the robust crescendo of those pioneers who took their singing lessons from Indians. Their bulldozed and muffled actions walk tip-toe and whisper like defeated conspirators. All because the handwriting on the wall commands silence.

WE GO EAST and west on green lights; we wear what they show us in windows. We eat whatever they put in packages and we listen on the air whenever somebody thinks it's his turn to sing or talk. Yet we consider ourself free and equal to the occasion just because we vote for a reform wave every four years.

The Marry-Go-Round

Kittenish Poses Make Men Flee

By HELEN ROWLAND

(Copyright, 1939, by King Features Syndicate, Inc.)

NEARLY EVERY GIRL who writes to a woman columnist nowadays wants to know the same old thing—"how to be popular." Being "popular" seems to be more important than to be "right" or "President" or even rich or beautiful, these days.

But nobody can tell you how to be popular—especially with men; because there is no ONE formula which will work the miracle with all men, all of the time.

You can't bunch men together, like asparagus; you can't even grade them, like oranges or cantaloupes.

Every man who comes into a girl's life is a BRAND-NEW study in psychology and one must study his style and type, and cut her cloth accordingly.

This does not mean that she must leap from role to role, like a stock-actress—from good fellow to clinging vine, from smart sophisticate to the sweet domestic, according to the man of the moment.

There is nothing that bores a man quite so much as artificiality! A POSE offends him, like too much rouge or too much perfume, and, like rouge, it always comes off.

I have seen men go positively ga-ga at an affected accent or cute, kittenish ways or a superior, highbrow manner. MEN LIKE THEIR WOMEN JUST AS GOD MADE THEM—WITH A FEW ACCENTS, HERE AND THERE.

SOME MEN fall in love entirely through their imaginations. They must be won by tactful sympathy and sweet reticence. The girl who can keep her mouth shut and use her eyes effectively gives them a chance to string their illusions on her and endow her with a lot of glamour, which she may or may not possess.

Nobody is so astonished as the man who discovers that some quiet, simple little thing has gotten into his imagination—and that he can't stop thinking about her.

Another type of man has to be flattered, coddled and "mothered." He never actually discovers that he is in love, until he wakes up some morning and suddenly finds that all a woman's little acts of thoughtfulness are absolutely necessary to him, and that he is dependent upon her for everything from cream in his coffee and understanding to the aspirin.

STILL ANOTHER sort of man would shy and break for the open, at the first hint of "mothering."

Perversity is his ruling passion—and the ONLY WAY to lead him on is to shoo him off.

What he wants is a CHASE, a game or a fight. Telling him to STAY AWAY from you, brings him right to your door, as promptly as the postman.

He is looking for something to CONQUER and TAME—and he won't "take hold" until you start pulling the other way.

Above all, don't let anybody tell you that men have to be hunted down and held up—captured by the strong-arm method, so often used on the screen these days. That wasn't a typical man you heard capitulating to the fervid pleas of the heroine, last night. That was a movie-actor, speaking the words that were put into his mouth—for several thousand a week!

In order to be "popular," you have only to make one or two men a little bit daffy about you. The rest will follow like sheep!

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

YOUNG AMERICA once again Starting Something To be specific NEDRA ANDERSON of DENVER, COLORADO suggesting that "gray hairs o be guided as assets, not liabilities and protected against greedy employers an ambitious youth."

I wonder! But here's how Nedra puts it

"Is it good business to replace workers who are past 40 with green youngsters? Maybe the youngster can step a little faster and is willing to accept lower wages But, after all, does the employer get more for his money

"I believe an employer should also take into consideration a man's pride, his obligations to his family After years of fine service during which he has built up a reputation in the community, no self respecting man wants to go on relief or take a WPA job

And if he has children, he has ambitions for them: he wants to educate them . . . give them a fair break in life. AN EMPLOYER WHO DISCHARGES A MAN AT 40 IS NOT ONLY HURTING THE EMPLOYE—HE'S ALSO DEALING HIS CHILDREN A SOUL BLOW . . . STRIKING DIRECTLY AT THE YOUTH OF AMERICA'

FINE HEART WORK Nedra girl, but I wonder if it makes sense First you may be sure of this NO BUSINESS MAN WHO IS WORTH THE NAME WILL REPLACE A REALLY VALUABLE EMPLOYE FOR AN UNTRIED WORKER, AT ANY PRICE The more ruthless the employer the more safe a worker may be that his profit-serving talent will be protected

But you bless your generous soul would go even further and protect 40-year-old gray hairs regardless And many will agree with you But would that be fair to anyone? IT ISN'T THE GRAY HAIRS THAT SHOULD COUNT, BUT WHAT'S UNDER THEM. If a man has kept in step with the times . . . if he has accumulated balance strength and wisdom with the years then by all means keep him and reward him accordingly says I

BUT I CAN SEE NO REASON WHY ANY GRAY HAIRS INCLUDING MY OWN, SHOULD BE REWARDED SIMPLY BECAUSE THEY HAVE HUNG AROUND THROUGH A CERTAIN NUMBER OF CALENDAR YEARS

Neither personal pride nor family obligations nor human pity offers any reason for retaining a worker simply because he or she has bridge-work and a false front

• • •

NO ONE could have more tender regard for the aged and infirm than I, my dear . . . and no one has struggled more to serve their interest YET I TRULY BELIEVE THAT THESE VARIOUS PLATFORMS WHICH HAVE BEEN ADVANCED TO SERVE THE AGED HAVE DONE THEM FAR MORE HARM THAN GOOD After all, human nature is pretty much the same at 60 as at six Make a six year-old realize that he'll have to solve his own problems or take the painful consequences and he'll put up a mighty smart struggle

But once let him think that he can get what he wants by staging a Fifty Strike, and he'll fleece you to a fare-ye-well That isn't Frenzied Finance, it's merely Human Nature Which statement will probably prove lethal but I stick by my guns

"THE HAND is quicker than the eye So you've always thought that the explanation for so many baffling tricks performed by magicians Well, it just isn't so

Harry Blackstone, whom you may have seen in Boston last week is probably the greatest living magician—and it was he who told me the real secret involved in sleight of hand

"The hand can make no motion which the eye cannot follow," he said "The success of sleight of hand aside from the dexterity of the manipulator, depends simply on misdirected thought The one performing the trick forces the eyes of the audience to follow whatever motion he chooses And you just can't keep your eyes from obeying"

BLACKSTONE is the last of the great old time magicians the last of that group in which were the names of Thurston Houdini and Kellar

It was Kellar who willed Blackstone the trick of raising the girl in the air, and Blackstone told me it is a trick which costs $14,000 to build Seems that it isn't done merely by magic, after all

It sounds a bit odd to hear a magician talk of "using a trick" It's pretty disillusioning too Another frightfully expensive trick is the sawing in two of the girl—an illusion which Blackstone himself developed. The cost of all his tricks equipment amounts to about $40,000. That, he admitted is the main reason why he's the only magician in the country who is at present attempting the more elaborate tricks

THE NEW LOVE

It is shame on what ruin
Lattle will I care or know
Down, like drops upon a pane
Slip and vain, and go

At my door stands the kid
Here's his flower in my hat
I' he see me pale and sad,
Will he see me later?

I sit looking at the door
Little will I think or say
I' he seek another door
Even so he may

CAN YOU IMAGINE a man paying $800 for an overcoat? And can you imagine there even being such a coat?

But there is And it's in Boston being exhibited at the Men's clothing show at the Parker House It was produced by H Freeman & Co., of Philadelphia which has control of Stroock fabrics, in case you care

The fabric of the $800 coat is made of the hair of vicuñas which are extremely rare little animals and can be found I know not where. You may, however have any reasonable number of duplicates made of the coat—for $800 each.

Economy Dishes

BY MARTHA LEE

Around this time of year most of us are turning serious thoughts toward economizing and cutting down here and there to balance our budgets. One of the greatest helps along these lines is cheese because it is one of the cheapest foods you can buy. Proportionately speaking, you get more nourishment for your money, too. Along with its other attributes, we would like to remind you that it is an excellent protein food.

There are so many things that you can do with cheese and so many delicious dishes can be made with it that it is hard to know just where to begin and where to end.

Among the innumerable ways of serving and using cheese none seems to compare with the old favorite and standby macaroni and cheese.

OLD FASHIONED MACARONI AND CHEESE

[illegible]

Cook macaroni according to package directions. Melt butter. Blend in flour and seasonings, add milk gradually, cook until thick and smooth, stirring constantly. Add cheese. Stir until cheese begins to melt. Pour sauce over macaroni. If you prefer casserole, place in mod[illegible] dish. Cover with slightly browned

We [illegible] to give you a [illegible] for cheese sauce. There are [illegible] ways you can use a good cheese sauce over the holidays, especially if you're serving [illegible] and meatless dishes [illegible] delicious meal.

Another [illegible] to be had by variations of it is [illegible] it with different vegetables [illegible] a tasty dish. Once [illegible] sauce [illegible] however, you'll find [illegible] of [illegible] or other [illegible] ways.

Cheese [illegible] a great help [illegible] when [illegible] vegetables [illegible] makes [illegible] to [illegible] a [illegible] dress [illegible] try to [illegible] cutting of toast, fried cornmeal mush and [illegible] a dozen other combinations of your own choosing or concocting.

CHEESE SAUCE

4 tbsp. butter	¼ tsp. pepper
4 tbsp. flour	2 cups milk
½ tsp. salt	1 to 1½ cups cut cheese
¼ tsp. pepper

Melt butter in saucepan. Remove from heat, blend in flour and seasonings. Add milk gradually, cook until thickened, stirring constantly. If cheese is dry, grate it. Soft cheese may be shredded, sliced or cut into small pieces. Continue cooking over low heat, stirring constantly until cheese melts.

Try mixing cooked macaroni with a sauce made of evaporated milk and cheese, thickened with eggs instead of flour—pour it into a baking dish and cover generously with buttered crumbs.

Instead of using milk, mix a can of tomatoes, a can of condensed vegetable soup and season it with onion, sugar, salt, pepper and butter. Then add ½ pound of cheese, pour it over macaroni and top with crumbs.

Add minced green pepper, pimiento, parsley, onion and a small can of sliced mushrooms.

Or try a little chopped cooked ham in the cheese sauce.

YOU CAN BE BEAUTIFUL

Blustery Weather Lotion At 'Double Dollar Value'

NOTHING more disconcerting than trying to look femme fatale in slinky black, as Margaret Lindsay so ably manages, when your chin is rough as sandpaper! Protect your complexion's texture as Arline Gould suggests.

By ARLINE GOULD

WHEN ALL'S said and done, you have to decide for yourself on the perfect chap and windburn preventive for your particular brand of hide. We've been on the trail of so many excellent ones lately that it takes a really outstanding one to create a ripple of excitement in this office. Well, it's arrived.

It's arrived with the announcement that for not too long a time there will be a "double dollar value" on it. Starting this Saturday you may buy a bottle exactly twice as big as the usual size—actually 12 ounces—for the usual price!

It is indubitably grand for every kind of hand complaint—from exotic ski-chapping and windburn that crawled in between your sleeves and shells when you skied at St. Jovite, all the way to a tear-inspiring so-sorry-for-myself case of housework hands.

Actually, it is one of the most luscious to look at lotions on the market. It's pearly, and satiny as pink panne velvet. Ever so delicately almond-ish in scent mixed with a blossomy smell.

Definitely on the track of advanced developments, this lotion has generous quantities of Vitamins A and D, of which you can't get too much in the winter.

Another discovery we've made about it is that for a foot cream and pump-bump softener you can't discover anything much better. Use it lavishly on your heels and soles after every bath and you'll have lots less trouble with your feet.

This double-quantity bottle is a particularly grand idea because men have pronounced theirs nothing they like better for an after-shave lotion so you may as well become resigned from the beginning to share your bottle. You'll use it as a body rub and a particularly excellent powder base, too.

To learn about this "double dollar" value on a Vitamin A and D crammed skin lotion, phone Arline Gould, LIBerty 4000 week-days, until five-thirty, or write her at the Boston American inclosing a stamped, self addressed envelope.

KIT CARSON :-: Avenger!

By EVELYN WELLS

Kit Crosses Desert, Saves Doomed Troop

CHAPTER 23

The Mexicans retreated. Emboldened, Kearney pushed on his starved men. Following the fleeing army their ranks thinned, until the Americans were straggling out the length of a mile on their bony mules—then the crafty Pico turned.

Wheeling, the Mexicans attacked the Americans. Their long lances were more murderous than carbines in close fighting. Antoine Robidoux fell wounded by many lance thrusts and Kit carried him to safety.

On the battlefield their bugler lay dead, his brass trumpet still at his lips. Out of Kearney's 40 Dragoons, 30 died or were wounded in the battle of San Pascual, which ended when General Kearney himself fell, wounded from his mule.

The tear gassed party came at last down the hill at full gallop with their two brass mountain howitzers saved Kearney's men.

BRADSHAW

80 Billion Is Possible

By HUGH E. BRADSHAW
Financial Editor

That 80 billion dollar national income President Roosevelt spoke of in his message to Congress continues to stir up the fraternal order of economists. Colonel Leonard P. Ayres makes the public prints today with an admission it is not only possible but reasonable. The method is the debatable point. Colonel Ayres says it depends on expansion of business spending not increased federal emergency disbursements. The first, he points out, is self perpetrating, the second self terminating. Which we think is a mighty pungent explanation of a fact too long hidden from the public by involved and weighty tomes on the matter.

The barrier to natural expansion of national income is the relative unattractiveness of taking business risks. Which the Cleveland economist traces to a favorite thulam of ours, uncertainty of profits. Once the government smiles on the profit motive and the desire to earn we should have no trouble duplicating the income of 80 billion dollars plus produced in 1929. For in the intervening period nearly 10,000,000 people have been added to the population.

The stock market is starting a new week with its probable behavior thoroughly obscured by a big question mark . . . Technically the refusal of rail shares to approach, even closely, resistance levels comparable to those threatened by industrials is most encouraging . . . It is the antithesis of the action which preceded the decline . . . However, it will be well to allow enough time to elapse for prices to exhaust technical tests, possibly two weeks before assuming all danger is past.

Then, if a secondary selling drive fails to dislodge volume offerings or new lows it will be time enough to begin aggressive accumulation . . . We expect a measure of reaction some time before mid-week . . . Most hopeful of market indications are the failure of sellers to depress the rail stocks or to uncover weakness in the high grade bond departments.

Chartist Chatter . . . Beware of either a downturn led by industrials or an upturn paced by rails in a bull market . . . That is the belief of many a close follower of graphs . . . Who say the reverse action is better and more reliable . . . We have had both lately and while the second has worked out . . . Of the individual issues Great Northern and Erie are well liked for trading accounts when available around recent levels.

Bradstreet Briefs . . . The textile issues are in favor with several Wall Streeters we have met up with of late . . . They feel this bull market or trade expansion era started so fast last summer that the group failed to have its usual move in advance of other sections . . . Cotton, wool and artificial silks all have their followers . . . We will take the last named . . . It is still an expanding industry . . . Pharis Rubber & Tire, on the curb, is believed undervalued by some gossips who say the company earned at an annual rate of $3 per share in the last quarter of 1938.

RUKEYSER

Work for All Seen "Best Defense"

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER
International News Service Economic Commentator

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (INS)—Quickened interest in national defense, in the last analysis, gets down to a question of economic strength.

In natural resources, manpower and tools, this country stands high. It has raised individual productivity to a higher level than attained in other countries.

But in the last decade, American resources have been to some extent dissipated by chronic unemployment. Putting idle manpower to work strengthens the economic basis for national defense.

In totalitarian states, men have been put back to work through "economic planning," which is regimentation. The American problem is to restore full economic health without goose stepping.

This can be done through a balanced international economy, circulation of goods and services moving from maker to user proceeds without hindrance. It can be promoted whenever the principal producing groups such as farmers, factory workers, toilers in communication lines and transportation and the various other trades are in reasonably balanced proportion to one another.

* * *

However, when any large group such as farmers fails to earn its accustomed ratio, it lacks the purchasing power to keep other workers fully employed.

Farmers were as a group but at best one third of their pre depression annual income, and the present working equilibrium reflects the reduced position of farmers, who pull down the other groups.

If farm incomes were restored to the 1929 level of $11,800,000,000 business could be supported at the higher level of which the president spoke in his annual message to Congress.

Keen students of economic balance look for a new income of $11,000,000,000 would provide an equilibrium on the basis of peak national prosperity.

As long as government contributes an authority to the industrial side the result is a financial deficit that must be met by some form of adjustment on the farm side of the equation.

* * *

When a national economy is viewed in terms of national defense it becomes apparent that continuing millions of able men in idleness of made work is a serious weakness. It saps the national strength.

It keeps the unemployed on meager relief wages, on the one hand, and drags down the standard of living of the gainfully employed, on the other, by forcing them to transfer to the government-supported a part of their own production. Taxation is primarily a device for transferring purchasing power from the producer through the government to some one else.

A self supporting worker contributes to the heap of consumable goods as much as he takes out. On the other hand, the person on a dole takes without giving.

Price Trends Mixed in Dull Market

NEW YORK, Jan 16 (AP)—A few utility, merchandising and specialty stocks posted modest advances in today's market but steels, motors and rails generally were unable to overcome profit-taking inspired by sessional weakness.

Dealings dwindled from the start and gains of fractions to a point or so were offset by losses of as much.

Utilities were among the liveliest before the convening of the Supreme Court at noon when, it was hoped, a decision on the constitutionality of the TVA would be handed down. The court however tendered only one ruling and adjourned for two weeks without passing on the power authority case which is now three years old.

Traders found scant encouragement in the news. The foreign picture clouded as Italy's quarrel with France was renewed and the Spanish embroglio showed no real crisis. With the WPA spending program before the Senate, many inclined to keep commitments light pending further developments at the capital.

Richberg Charges SEC Violated Law

WASHINGTON, Jan. 16 (INS)—Donald R. Richberg, high in the New Deal "inner circle," today accused the securities and exchange commission of violating the law in making public confidential information concerning operation of the Bank of America National Trust and Savings Association, largest banking institution in the nation.

Representing the Trans America Corporation, giant West Coast holding company which is in process of dissolution by the SEC, Richberg, former NRA administrator, asked the U. S. district court for the District of Columbia to issue an injunction restraining the commission from probing further in the bank's affairs.

Richberg's actions came as the commission opened hearings on its bill of complaint against Trans-America. This complaint includes allegations that Trans-America had filed false and misleading information in the registration statement covering the sale of stock and debentures of the Bank of America.

Richberg, in contending the SEC is without jurisdiction in the matter, presented with his petition a memorandum in which he himself had contended that the commission had no power to regulate the Bank of America operations.

"The SEC is acting contrary to law in making public information that must be kept confidential under the law," Reichberg asserted.

In the petition filed by Richberg sought to restrain the commission from calling on national bank examiners to furnish confidential information concerning the Bank of America. The petition also sought to restrain the commission from making any steps of any kind in connection with the bank, and from publishing any information concerning the bank.

Green Light Seen for Business

By LEWIS HANEY
Professor of Economics, New York University

NEW YORK, Jan. 16. Last week the moderate reaction under way since Jan. 4 showed signs of ending. The composite averages of stock prices declined less than the week before, leaving only between one and two points. Bonds also firmed.

True seven of the dozen most active issues were lower, including leading motor, steel and metal issues, but five active stocks did not decline at all, and four of these made small gains—Sperry, Curtiss-Wright, North American Aviation, and Continental Motors.

There has been a series of daily recessions caused by a series of items in the shape of disturbing news. It seems likely that these news disturbances are most, or all, of the way and we may have a market rally probably next week.

What further setbacks, after a time, are to be expected. I am not ready to say that the low of the month has been seen.

* * *

The recent leveling of steel activity was not unexpected, succeeding a short sharp peak during which there was some forward buying for new housing purchases and for unexpected purchases of autos.

Then came growing evidence of the expected swing of business with a slackening in auto sales and steel buying. Bank loans failed to expand.

The President's messages with its statement of all patience in balancing the budget came as a distinct shock to many and the advocacy of war preparation and militant verbal assaults upon various European nations were disturbing.

On the other hand the final proposal for treatment was so reasonable that it disappointed those who wanted big spending. Then, when Congress cut the huge WPA appropriation some of the numerous persons who still believe that "purchasing power" can be created out of government debt were disappointed.

* * *

But most of this is fundamentally trash. The nation is returning to its economic senses and is refusing to follow Roosevelt's road to ruin. The action of the House shows that we are going to turn in the other direction.

This means business may soon be able to begin planning again, and that savers may begin to invest. The fear of monetary manipulation and government participation in business will begin to wane. Thus the chief obstacles to higher stock prices will be removed.

Steel Buyers Are Hesitant

CLEVELAND, Jan. 16 (AP)—Steel mill executives interviewed today said buyers are hesitant to place orders for second quarter delivery because they expect prices to be reduced.

Some mill executives attribute the hesitancy to the uncertainty of the new Administration's attitude toward business.

Bar Gold Declines

LONDON, Jan. 16 (AP)—Bar gold 148s 9½d, off 1 penny. (Equivalent $34.76.)

Bar silver 24d, off ⅛. (Equivalent 47.57 cents.)

Retail Sales, Collections Up

ST. LOUIS, Jan. 16 (AP)—Retail sales and collections increased in December over November, but were lower than in December last year, it was reported today by the Mercantile Trust Co. and Retail Credit Men's Association. Sales in 1938 were 40 cents on the dollar.

The increase in sales was 14 per cent for the month and 4 per cent for the year. Collections were 10 per cent for the month and 1 per cent for the year.

The report pointed out that it was the first time since November, 1937, that collections and sales showed a year-to-year advance.

Commodity Index Dips

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Weekly business index compiled by the Standard Statistics Co. dipped to 99.1 this week from 99.3 last week.

The Standard Statistics index of United States industrial production stood at 97 compared with 96.8 last week and 80.2 a year ago.

For the month of December the weekly index was 96.7 in the 29 weeks ended with the first week in December. The corresponding high point in April was 114.4 and the low point in last January was 78.4. The average for the year was 95.5 compared with 95 for 1937.

GLAMOUR PLUS TALENT TO FEATURE NEW STAGE BILLS

TAMARA TOUMANOVA makes her musical comedy debut in "Stars in Your Eyes," opening tomorrow night at the Shubert.

PLYMOUTH BOUND—Guy Robertson and Claire Luce in a scene from "Of Mice and Men," winner of the New York critics' '38 award, opening at the Plymouth on January 23.

Gala Premiere For Musical

If for no other reason than that it boasts comic Jimmy Durante and tuneful Ethel Merman, the customers are impatiently awaiting tomorrow night's gala opening of Stars In Your Eyes at the Shubert.

Dwight Deere Wiman's newest musical has a book by J. P. McEvoy, lyrics by Dorothy Fields and music by Arthur Schwartz. Josh Logan staged the production which has sets designed by Jo Mielziner, dances by Carl Randall and costumes by John Hambleton.

Producer Wiman, who pilfered the glamorous Zorina from the ballet, gave her wings and started her in "I Married An Angel," current Broadway hit which opened here, gives us another premiere ballerina in "Stars In Your Eyes."

She is the lovely Tamara Toumanova, recruited from the Monte Carlo Ballet Russe, who will make her musical comedy debut in the Wiman show tomorrow night.

"Stars In Your Eyes" takes Hollywood for the well-known ride and, in its cast of 100, includes as complete a flock of stars as ever were dreamed up in that incredible place.

Taylor Hit Film Tops Tremont Bill

The Crowd Roars," the picture which introduced motion picture Robert Taylor in his first human role, and "Little Miss Broadway," the Shirley Temple picture, are unreeling on the Tremont screen. This bill will continue through Wednesday.

Margie Hart Howard Star

The Old Howard's current "Frisky Frolics Burlesquers" with magnetic Margie Hart as the featured performer, is one of the best bills house has offered in months.

In addition Miss Hart is offering comic and recognized pulchritude at its best. Bert Kosins comedy singing and dancing of Mary Murray and Pete Piamond, Lovely Nona Martin, the fast-stepping Morgan Sisters, the Seven Classy Novelty Musicians, Harry Reed, Vickie Welles, Joey Shaw and Gloria and Joy DuVal are others starred.

Joy St. Clair At Columbia

Pretty Joy St. Clair with her sunkissed complexion and Hollywood-inspired sets and suits, is the Joy St. Clair this week performing at Max Mintz's popular Columbia Theater where she made a sensational hit 10 weeks ago.

Previous stage commitments interfered with the theater manager's plan to extend her engagement at that time.

Another favorite, Lee Mae Brown, is presently spotted in the revue. She is now in her sixth week at the Columbia. Lee Mae Brown is also holding over.

How to Get Along in the World

By MERRYLE STANLEY RUKEYSER

Is a College Education a Good Investment?

Uneducated men and women are likely to be uncritical in their appraisal of the worth of a college degree.

DANIEL S. HOUSTON

COLLEGES TASK

BUSINESS MORE COMPLEX

"By education you can help a man a little; you can help him develop himself; you can help him expand what is in him. But you cannot put anything in him you can only develop what you find there. And no two men are alike. You cannot change them.

"Each has his good points and his weak points, his particular capacities; and the best thing you can do is to try to evolve him along the line of his capacities.

"The young man about to enter business ought to be taught something about accounting.

"It would be a good thing for a boy before he enters business to know the theory of banking and enough about the practice of banking to find his way around in a bank, to be able to draw a check, at least.

"Enough about credit and in vestments to know their mean ing, something about their ter minology, something about the organization of business, its financial structure, the marks of a good financial structure, a l of sound financing, not so much as to the specific problems he may have to face later as about the method of approach to such problems and the standards and tests to apply.

"Then above all I should want to be sure that the man who is going to manage business, who comes to business leadership, has an authoritative grasp of economic principles, which he could not get in his undergradua ate course, and is not likely to pick up in business.

"The young man ought to know something of the evolution of in dustry."

Al McCoy Is to Box in England | Baer and Pastor Here This Week

By JACK CONWAY

AL McCOY, New England heavyweight champion, will head for England in the Spring. His first bout abroad will be against Len Harvey, British heavyweight champion, and will be staged under the direction of Armand Vincent. The latter promoted McCoy's contest with Tommy Loughran in Montreal.

Mr. Boston

"I have already played to 100,000 people with my ice carnival in London," cabled Vincent to Bill Brennan, McCoy's manager. "Sports are going very big in England now that people are getting over a bad case of war jitters. Bishop Pushes War on Tracks

The Most Rev. James E. Cassidy, bishop of Fall River, today carried his plea for an end to horse and dog racing direct to Governor Saltonstall, in a renewed onslaught against gambling.

Leading a crusade against the proposed new dog track at Wa[illegible] the prelate [illegible] as good citizens to save [illegible] from the Wonder [illegible] and from "this Devil [illegible]."

Bishop Cassidy [illegible] at [illegible] gathered [illegible] the new Civic Ex[illegible]

"The present governor is not tied up with the gang of gamblers with whom other governors have been tied up," he declared, his voice shaking with emotion.

"Praise God that he will rule over us and help to keep this harm from all of us."

Bishop Cassidy occupied a [illegible] form in Pilgrim Memorial High School at Wareham, where clergymen of all faiths gathered to discuss the attempt to establish a new dog track.

"There will be no compromise with any gambling, and no priest will enter on these vile places for any reason, in my diocese, except when accompanied by a State Police officer," the bishop said. "That's the voice of the cathedral seat of the diocese of Fall River," he warned in closing.

Columbia to Give Course in Fishing

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (INS)—Columbia University today proudly announced it was making fishing a part of college education as it already has done with piano tuning, baseball and raising chickens.

On February 15, Dr. Francois d'Eluen will begin a series of eight lectures to teach fishermen such rudimentary principles as selecting the proper bait with which to catch fish and then how to fry or mount them.

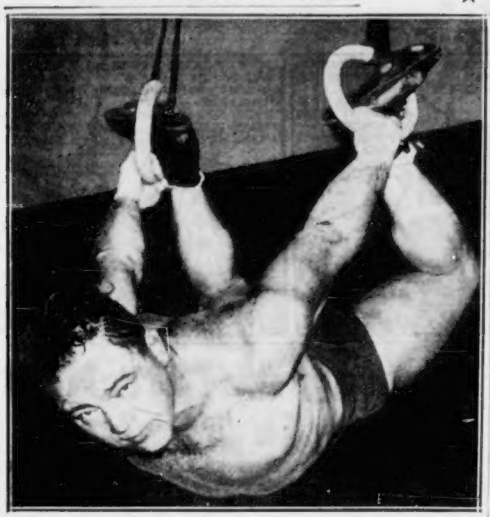
Bruins Enter Stretch At Peak for Toronto



Ready to Go "Who says I'm too old?" chirps the veteran Gus Sonnenberg, shown "bending the crab" on the rings. The ex-champ meets Jim Coffield next Thursday.

Gus Sonnenberg In Special Event

With Steve Casey, world's champion, and The Shadow already engaged in daily workouts for their title wrestling bout Thursday night at the Garden, the sensational Dynamiter of Dartmouth, Gus Sonnenberg, announced he will begin public training today.

Gus is down to meet big Jim Coffield of Missouri in a special event and since Coffield looms up as about the stiffest foe Sonny has met in his recent comeback, he plans to leave no stone unturned in his preparation for the clash. He has arranged for three training mates to work with him today, probably at the Y. M. C. U. gym and he plans to continue his sessions until the day before the match.

Meanwhile, the argument going on between The Shadow and Casey on the question of a referee for Thursday's battle, assumed serious proportions when Steve said he positively will not stand for Charley Donnell, the Norwood arbiter, as third man in the ring.

"He's done nothing but favor The Shadow as far as I can make out," declared the Irishman. "He should have called that headlock illegal when The Shadow beat my brother Jim, but he let it go. Well, it's bad enough trying to beat one man in the ring without having to beat the referee too, so Donnell is out and that's final."

Promoter Bowser had made no decision about the referee matter, but it is probable that he will listen to Steve's protest and name a referee other than Donnell.

In the semi-final, Rebel Bob Russell, bad man from Newport, clashes with The Sheik, strong, bewhiskered husky from Arabia, while preliminaries will include Harry Jacobs vs. Jack Smith, Pat Reilly vs. Frank Brown, newcomer from Texas, and Stanley Sitkowski vs. Pat Kelley.

Junior Olympics Face Marquettes

The fast-travelling Junior Olympics face their stiffest test yet in the New England Amateur Hockey league when they entertain the formidable Club Marquette of Providence tonight at the Boston Garden.

Both teams enter the all-important fray with undefeated records in league competition. The Juniors, currently leading the procession, have chalked up four consecutive triumphs.

Hold Slim Lead Over Rangers

By BILL GRIMES

After a week's layoff, the Bruins will get back in action tomorrow night against the Toronto Maple Leafs at the Boston Garden.

The Bossmen are in perfect shape to start the second half of the 1938-39 N. H. L. race. Bill Cowley engaged in a couple of hard scrimmages at the Arena on Saturday and yesterday and will be back at his old post between Charlie Sands and Ray Getliffe tomorrow night.

Herbie Schmidt, who returned to the firing line a week ago in Toronto, has completely recovered from his injury so the Bruins are at war strength for the first time since Dec. 6.

B'S HITTING PACE

While the Bruins were laying off, the Rangers picked up three points. The Streamliners shut out the Hawks 6 to 0 last Thursday in New York, but the best they were able to get last night in Chicago was a draw, despite the fact that Paul Thompson's charges played a wild game with the Maple Leafs on Saturday in Toronto.

As the seven clubs swing into the second half of the N. H. L. campaign, the Bruins are setting the pace with 35 points, one full game out in front of the New York Rangers, with the Americans in third place, three points in arrears of their rivals.

Between the third place Americans and Toronto, who moved back into fourth position by beating the Hawks on Saturday, there is a gap of six points. The Black Hawks have been slipping since Bill Stewart was let out. They have played six games since Dorchester Bill was turned loose but have annexed only three points, a victory over Toronto and a draw with Rangers.

RED WINGS BEGIN TO CLICK

Judging from their recent success, the Red Wings are beginning to click. They hovered around the bottom of the standing all season, because of injuries, but they have been climbing of late and are now right on the heels of the Hawks and five points up on Les Canadiens.

The Bruins will play two road games this week. They will leave for Montreal Wednesday night, and after meeting the flying Frenchmen Thursday, move out to Detroit for a Sunday night battle with the Red Wings.

During the 24 hours he was in California last week, Walter Brown signed two new attractions for the Boston Garden, Harold Steinman's Ice Vanities and a golf show . . . Freddie Corcoran has signed Sam Snead, Ralph Guldahl, Paul Runyan, Jimmy Thomson, Horton Smith, Gene Sarazen, Harry Cooper and Harold "Jug" McSpaden to demonstrate shots at the Boston show . . . With such an array of stars, it should be a million-dollar golf lesson . . . During the radio memorial for Col. Jacob Ruppert last night, the speakers were Pres. Will Harridge, of the American League; Mickey Cochrane, Horace Stoneham, Babe Ruth, Col. John R. Kilpatrick, Sid Mercer, Clarence Rowland and Donald Barnes . . . Wires from Pres. Ford Frick, Jack Dempsey and Larry McPhail were read and the broadcast closed with a recording of the Colonel's last radio interview, which was made after the Yanks had beaten the Cubs four in a row . . .

BABE RUTH

Manager Paul Thompson has an edge on the N. H. L. mentors . . . He's in uniform, so there's nothing to prevent him going on the ice to dispute rulings of the officials . . . He spent about an hour arguing with Mickie Ion, who dished out no less than 20 penalties Saturday night in Toronto . . . Tiny Parker didn't quit umpiring in the National League to enter politics . . . He was dropped by Ford Frick . . . Bill Stewart, ex-manager of the Black Hawks was at Groton Saturday to see Bill, Jr., score the goal that gave Lawrence Academy a 1 to 0 victory over Worcester North High, which had won 11 straight . . . Arthur Stout, former Exeter track man, who is now a freshman at Harvard, has been obliged to quit track due to a pulled tendon . . . On his first try at broad jumping this fall, Stout cleared 22 feet, 3 inches . . . Now, it's Bill Kern, Carnegie Tech, that's headed for B. C. . . . Along about the first of the month, Francis Oulmet, Frank Craven and "Hap" Kern will fly to Miami with Elmer Ward . . . George "Thin Man" Holland should have all over $15,000 that Sam Simon spent to put horse racing across in the Granite State . . . Arthur Duffey, Jr., is in Panama with the U. S. Naval Aviation squadron, which will stop at Cuba before coming North to Norfolk . . . C. F. Adams is in New York to attend Col. Ruppert's funeral . . . The "Ice Follies of 1939" publicity department should have given Everett McGowan a heavier play . . . "Mac" was nationally famous as a speed skater and then turned to pro hockey, breaking in with the Springfield Indians . . . Although he never attempts to referee games, Foster Hewitt, the Toronto broadcaster, can call penalties immediately the infringement takes place.

Warrington Out To Upset Pastor

Bob Pastor of New York and Tiger Warrington, the heavyweight champion of Canada who has cut a wide swath in the ranks of the big fellows, clash in a 12-round bout at the Argonne A. A.'s opening show at Mechanics Building on Thursday night.

Warrington is determined to include the name of Bob Pastor among his victims. The fact that Pastor recently beat Tony Shucco and Al McCoy, outpointed Lou Nova of San Francisco shortly before Nova whipped Tommy Farr, stopped Chuck Crowell, Lee Ramage and others doesn't annoy Warrington in the least.

He calls attention to the fact that he whipped Al McCoy, Emil Scholtz, the sturdy German; Steve Dudas, Steve Carr and others; and he says that he will have the same size gloves as Bob. There is no reason why he should concede anything to Pastor, except a little more experience.

There is considerable betting on the match at present, but it is an even money affair.

Bob McGourty, the manager of Warrington, already has accepted substantial bets from admirers of Pastor. No man ever had more confidence in a boxer. He reminds some of the old-timers of Tom O'Rourke, who would bet all he could obtain on George Dixon, the great little Haligonian featherweight whom many believe was the best of the boxers of his class.

Betting has become a lost art with managers. Occasionally, there is an exception, and McGourty in this case seems to be a throwback to the old-time boys who would back their men with the coin of the realm or some other place.

Frick Wrong

More $ $ for Grid Stars

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (AP)—Washington State College alumni have decided something has got to be done about it and have resolved to give their athletes "better compensation."

Sam Snead likes to tell about the time he used up three pencils and two notebooks giving a golf lesson to a deaf mute . . . The who's who of sports will attend the rites for Colonel Ruppert today . . . Incidentally the air eulogies to the Colonel Saturday and Sunday nights were well done.

Duke will use the $100,000 it took out of the Rose Bowl to apply on its new gym . . . Coach Tom Stidham of Oklahoma didn't get around to shaking the hand of every Tennessee player after the Orange Bowl game, but every time the Sooner Special stopped on the way home from Miami, Stidham made a speech praising the Tennesseeans . . . which was something.

Here's another reason why this country is not only the best to live in but also to play in: Professional football players are Great Britain's most popular and worst paid public entertainers . . . Good, bad, win or lose, they get 40 bucks per week and they figure they're through at 30 . . . California is burning because New York gets the Baer-Nova bout.

CUBS ONCE FOR SALE

Before he bought the Yanks, Colonel Ruppert had a chance to get the Cubs . . . The betting along Broadway is that the New York Boxing Commission will stand behind its officials and not reverse the Farr-Burman verdict . . .

Pat Comiskey, Jersey heavyweight, now is the highest paid preliminary fighter in the business . . . Already he gets considerably more than the usual fee of $100 for four rounders . . . Mike Jacobs predicts Pat will be collecting $2500 for four rounds of toil before he is old enough to be matched in longer bouts . . .

Correction: Some time back President Ford Frick of the National League made a speech in Montreal . . . He told his audience that of the 23,242 players who have gone in and out of the majors in the 63 years of their history, only a handful have turned out to be bad 'uns . . . Mr. Frick was slightly off key in his computation . . .

As a matter of fact there have been only 6767 players in the majors from the time they organized through the 1938 season . . . the record still stands out, at that, and we hope Mr. Frick doesn't mind the sharpshooting.

How about Charles "Old Hoss" Radbourne for he baseball hall of fame? . . . when he pitched Providence to 60 victories in 1884, he not only won 18 in a row, but won 12 from Cleveland, 11 from Detroit and 10 from Buffalo . . .

Thirty-three games from three clubs! . . . Nowadays a guy is considered a lollapalooza if he wins 20 from all the opposition combined . . . so we give you—"Old Hoss" Radbourne . . . the name of the Yankee ball park may be changed from Yankee Stadium to Ruppert Stadium.

Leo Durocher At Scribes Fete

Leo Durocher, recently appointed manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will make his first Boston appearance since his elevation, at the Copley-Plaza, February 2, as one of the featured guests at the annual Baseball Writers' Dinner.

Popular Lippy Durocher, who hails from Springfield, is the second of the five Massachusetts managers who has accepted an invitation to be present. The other is Gordan "Mickey" Cochrane.

Gabby Hartnett, Connie Mack and Pie Traynor are the other three who have been asked to attend.

It is extremely doubtful whether the veteran Connie Mack will be on hand as he is headed South on a vacation before the baseball season gets underway, but Hartnett and Traynor are expected to be among those present.

These pilots are but a few of the treats in store for baseball fans at the big affair which takes place two weeks from Thursday night.

Ice Fishing Popular In Blue Hills Ponds

Further evidence of the growing popularity of winter recreation in the Greater Boston districts was observed Sunday in the Blue Hills, Canton, where a large delegation of outdoor enthusiasts enjoyed excellent fishing at Ponkapoag and Houghton's Pond.

Edward L. Farrell, supervisor of recreation in the Metropolitan district commission—WPA is authority for the statement that close to 100 folks engaged in fishing through the ice at these ponds, and most all were fortunate enough to bring home some pickerel or bass.

Bradley Bill Would License All 'Bookies'

Seeking state revenue from the untaxed millions made yearly by Massachusetts "bookies," Representative G. Edward Bradley of Somerville today had on file a bill which would legalize horse betting establishments here.

Under its provisions "bookies" and horse parlors would be licensed under Tax Commissioner Henry F. Long, who would draw up specifications on hours of business, the size of fees and all other "regulations."

G. E. Bradley

It was further suggested that curtailment be made during the summer meetings at Massachusetts tracks, already heavy contributors to the state through the pari-mutuel system.

"Massachusetts is infested with illegal "bookies" and it seems ridiculous to me that the state does not demand some revenue as long as police throughout the state are either powerless or unwilling to halt such gambling," Rep. Bradley said.

"If it is legal to place bets through the pari-mutuel machines, it is equally legal and just that bets should be placed, in commission houses — with the state getting a just share of the profits. Too long, have racketmen been mulcting the public and the state.

"It would be a good thing to license 'bookies,' for they would be subject to strict regulations and all of them would have to be bonded. This would stop all this welching we hear about whenever the operators get hit too hard."

At the same time, Bradley, with Representative Walter J. Moran, also of Somerville, filed a bill providing for a state lottery. Under its provisions, 50 per cent of the profits would go into the general fund and the remaining 50 per cent into the old age pension fund.

Young M'Mitchell Olympic Timber

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (INS)—Leslie MacMitchell of New York University is a definite Olympic prospect for next year and Gene Venzke is not through yet.

These facts today were outgrowths of the General Anderson three-quarter-mile race at the 69th Regiment Armory games, which saw Venzke leading MacMitchell by a foot in the splendid time of 3:07.2.

4:22 IN SCHOOL

Venzke, now over 30, will still be doing a good mile job this winter. Do not be surprised if he goes up to 5000 meters in 1940 and wins an Olympic spot at this distance.

Gene has all the craft that is necessary and his heart is in the right place.

MacMitchell, Violet freshman, is, at 18 years of age, apparently ready for a 4:15 mile.

He should be one of our 1500-meter men next season if his improvement is proportionate. He was America's fastest schoolboy miler while at George Washington High School, breaking 4:22.

The young N. Y. U. runner will take things easy this week. He will compete in the two-thirds of a mile special at the Millrose games February 4, meeting, among others, Wayne Rideout and Mel Trutt, both top-notchers.

John Borican, the national pentathlon champion; Wesley Wallace and Don Lash will be gentlemen to contend with this winter.

Borican won the 69th Regiment 1000-yard special as if he meant it, beating Frank Slater, the indoor champion, and Charley Beetham.

ROMANI IMPROVING

Archie San Romani, who was six yards behind the astounding MacMitchell and Venzke, has not come into his own yet.

He is satisfied with his development, though, and claims he will be ready for the best of them by the time the Garden meets come 'round.

Pembroke Drops Dog Track Plan

While the Pembroke Citizens' Committee was being organized to fight dog racing in that town, Charles C. Langille announced his resignation as president of the Pembroke Greyhound association and the abandonment of plans to conduct dog racing in Pembroke.

The citizens' committee was organized on strength of reports that the association would go ahead with plans for construction of a dog track despite revocation of a permit by the selectmen. Langille declared it was his opinion the association could go ahead regardless of the revocation but decided it would not be for the best interests of the most people.

Hockey Row Puts Calder In Middle

NEW YORK, Jan. 16 (INS)—It's a rare hockey game that does not wind up with a call for a debating society these days.

Referee Norman Lamport was to phone Frank Calder, president of the National Hockey League, today considering a ruling on a disputed American goal which resulted in a 1 to 1 tie with Canadiens at the Garden before a crowd of 11,000.

Claim of Canadiens was that an offside preceded the scoring play by Lorne Carr on a pass from Dave Schriner, late in the second period.

Exploded Cecil Hart, manager of Canadiens, following the contest:

"Linesman Norman Shay admitted he did not see the offside because several players were in his way. Referee Norman Lamport said it was offside but he could not overrule Shay.

"The rule book states he can overrule Shay," and many words to that effect as the Canadiens rushed for a train to Montreal.

Deposed "Toe" Blake of the Canadiens, who was in on the controversial mixup:

"Certainly it was an offside. Joe Jerwa knows it as well as everybody who was sitting nearby does."

Asserted Jerwa:

"I came out of a collision with Blake, and I cannot tell a lie. I do not know."

Reported Red Dutton of the Americans:

"We were due for a good break. I could cite cases with Toronto and Boston where we were given terrible decisions.

"The linesman is supposed to call it, and that is that. The game is over, and the Canadiens didn't win it."

Lamport himself was non-committal to direct inquiry. Shay confirmed he was not in a position to see the alleged offside.

According to Hart, Lamport will deliver the protest to President Calder. President Calder will ask for written statements from Lamport, Dutton and Hart. Then it will go to the board of governors.

What makes it all the more complicated is that Calder is in just a bit of a spot, as he is president of the Americans, too.

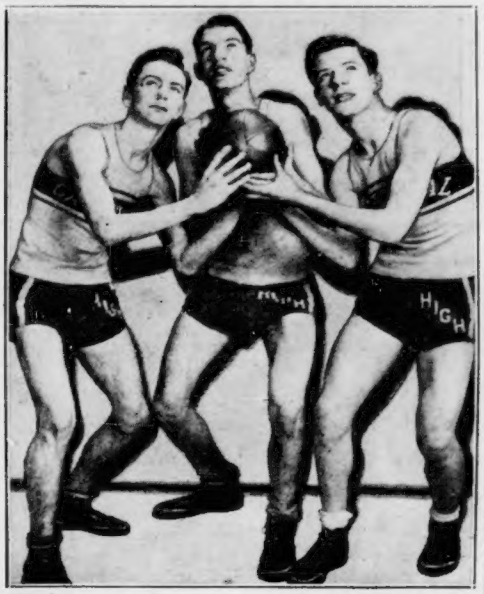
Story Book Quintet

Cathedral High After 5th in Row



Upsa Daisy Can't miss. With Tono O'Brien, left, Harold Manley, center, and Tim O'Leary, the three Cathedral sharpshooters working together that poor old basket hasn't a chance.

Cathedral high school's story-book basketball team, with four straight victories to its credit in Catholic League competition, opens the week's court activities when the South Enders hear the case of Mission high, arch rival, on the Cathedral floor tonight.

Because of the keen rivalry of the two intown schools, the game will draw a full house. But, with the teams deadlocked for first place, the two centers battling for high scoring honors in the circuit, the Cathedral hall promises to swell to the elevated structure to fulfill the needs of the followers.

Playing on its own floor, the South Enders will probably enter the filt a slight favorite but then anything can happen in one of these games.

PLENTY OF CLASS

Cathedral opened its season with a victory away from home over St. Charles and followed this with triumph over Brookline St. Mary's on its own grounds. St. Clements, sporting its first basketball team in two years, fell victim in the third Cathedral start with Lynn St. Mary's threatening throughout, the fourth tip-over.

Coach Jack McCarthy, most jubilant these days, reveals that this is no flash in the pan and will vow that this "story-book" quintet will live up to its early promise throughout the schedule.

The club, made up entirely of juniors, has an individual tale making up every position on the team.

Al Segadelli, 155-pound forward, weaves the longest trail. Captain-elect of football, Segadelli is serving his third season on the hoopsters, is rated the best player in the circuit and with all this to his credit, has not participated in a practice session.

ANOTHER O'LEARY

Segadelli works after school and is unable to tune up for games with the rest of the boys, having a hard time to get off duty to play in the games.

Timmy O'Leary is another step in the line of family athletes attending the South End school. Timmy's brother Danny, now a senior at Boston College, served under McCarthy as did Tommy, now a Holy Cross freshman. O'Leary will be at the right forward post when Mission invades the basketball court.

Center Hedgie Manly, leading league scorer, is the same boy who pitched the Cathedral club to a victory over the powerful Lynn English team last year in the Schoolboy Writer's baseball tournament at Bees Field. Playing his first game, Manly allowed but two hits in eight innings to bring headlines in all of the papers.

Tom O'Brien, right guard, was the first player to win a football letter in his freshman year since McCarthy took over the coaching reins. Last year, he was unable to play on the basketball team because of an appendicitis operation but is back this season as strong as ever.

Bernie Kerr, left guard, is playing his first term of varsity basketball. His lack of size forced him off the squad but his growth in the past year plus experience picked up in intra-mural games, won him the starting assignment.

The stories of this squad are endless, there is enough material to fill a book. No wonder Coach McCarthy calls his club the "story-book" quintet.

YOU mix Ethyl fluid with your gas to get MORE power, BETTER mileage. Now mix FRANKLIN Oversize Pea Coal with your other coal or coke to get MORE heat, QUICKER pickup on cold mornings, and BIG savings. Because it's the genuine FRANKLIN "Red Ash" Anthracite for which your father and grandfather gladly paid a premium price, this FRANKLIN Oversize Pea Coal "sweetens up" the performance of ordinary fuels yet, because of its present bargain price, cuts total heating costs 'way down. Yes! FRANKLIN Pea Coal is a grand mixer, but it's equally ideal as a "banker" to hold back your fire day or night. And it's at the peak of its economy perfection when you burn it ALONE in small furnace or boiler, kitchen range, water heater, bucket-a-day stove, or brooder. We promise you—a single ton of FRANKLIN Oversize Pea Coal and your fuel bins will never again be without a supply of this premium-quality, bargain-priced American Anthracite.
